

José Alberto López is a researcher in the Serrano lab at IRB Barcelona, previously at the Campisi lab in the Buck Institute for Research on Aging (Novato, California) and at the University of California, Davis. PhD in Biomedicine at the University of Córdoba (Spain). Research on mechanisms of aging, from nutritional interventions (caloric restriction, ketogenic diets) to cellular senescence in cancer and other age-related diseases.